AMERICA MUST HAVE SHARE IN WORLD COUNCIL

British General Declares U. S. is Jointly Responsible For New Order

POINTS OUT DANGERS IN UPHEAVAL IN EUROPE

Must Organize to Save Europe's Body as Soul Was Saved.

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Thursday, Nov. 14.—General Jan Christian Smuts tonight entertained a party of American editors on behalf of the government. Addressing the guests he said that the greatest and most fruitful fact of the great war had been the coming together of Europe and America.

"Old Europe is dead and a new world is slowly emerging," he said. "In the upbuilding of this new world the cooperation of America is essential. It is for the good of both America and Europe that the former henceforth take an active share in the councils of the old world and take up her burden in the new world."

"America has become jointly responsible with Europe for the new order which will arise from the ruins of this world. America and Great Britain are bound of the same great principles and ideals. Their close cooperation henceforth will form the best guarantee for the future peaceful development of civilization."

"When the great American republic joined us in the struggle it was not only with material weapons but with all that moral reinforcement which came from the splendid vision and moral enthusiasm of President Wilson speaking on behalf of the people of the United States. His was the great vision of a league of nations and our main concern now must be the saving of Europe for the future of the world. As we organized the world for victory let us now organize the world against hunger. That will be the best preparation for the new order of international good feeling and co-operation."

"The position is tragic in the extreme. A whole world order is passing away. There is danger of things going too far and giving Europe a setback from which she will not recover for generations. The evils bred by hunger threaten not merely the old but the new world. We must save civilization now let us care for its sick body."

"Not only the liberated territories of our allies, not only our small neutral neighbors, but the enemy countries themselves, require our helping hand. Let us extend it in all generosity and magnanimity. The idea of organizing food supplies for these lands will help to purify an atmosphere cursed with war, hate and misdeeds."

A party of socialists occupied the offices of the Neue Freie Presse and brought out special editions advocating the establishment of a socialist republic in Germany.

WANT PLENTY OF FUEL IF HIGHER RATE IS ALLOWED

Citizens, Discussing Proposed Increase Want Assurance of Supply

KICK ON HIGHER COST AND INADEQUATE SERVICE

Company's Attorney Declares New Rate Would Help Get More Gas

A public meeting was held last evening in council chamber to discuss the proposed rate increase on natural gas. Citizens present, with a minimum charge of 2,000 cubic feet per month, the company claiming that the rate is the same as that charged in all towns supplied by the company.

Messrs. E. C. Wright, Walter C. Metz, Wm. C. Miller, City Solicitor H. C. Ascheratt, Frank Muenz and City Clerk Geo. H. Hamilton and several others discussed the proposition. It was the consensus of opinion that there would not be so much opposition providing the company would agree to furnish gas during the winter months but if the service is to be inadequate then they would seriously object to paying any increase.

Attorney Jas. R. Fitzgibbon was present on behalf of the gas company and he stated that with the increased revenue the company would be able to give better service for the reason that more wells could be sunk insuring a greater production. Another reason given was that the company would be able to give better service for the reason that more wells could be sunk insuring a greater production.

Mr. Fitzgibbon also stated that production which was being made by the company was $4,000 now, costs $22,000 and that in sinking a well today the cost is $11,000 where five years ago it was only $4,000 and at that time wells had an initial flow of 1,000,000 cubic feet and today only 800,000.

In addition to a number of citizens and city officials present Councilman Frank Knauber, Lester Newkirk, S. O. Riggs and E. P. Frank were interested in the proposition. It will be up to the council to either grant or reject the proposed increase.

Another public meeting to discuss the proposition will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the council chamber.

OFFICERS LOSE THEIR INSIGNIA

Straps and Bars Torn From Uniforms When Establishment of Reds Is Announced in Ghent

(Associated Press Telegram)
Ghent, Wednesday, Nov. 13.—There is no organized authority yet in Brussels but with comparative calm and dignity, the Belgian capital awaits the coming of the armies of liberation.

On Sunday three delegates from the "republic of Hamburg" arrived at Brussels. Standing on a balcony, the military commanders of the city addressed a crowd of three thousand soldiers and civilians.

"Three million Germans have been killed during the war," he said. "That is sufficient. Let us have peace."

General von Falkenhayn, the German governor-general of Belgium, received the delegates and in the meantime French and Belgian socialists addressed the crowd. Then a sailor nimble, climbed up to the balcony and nailed a red tablecloth to the railing amid cheers.

After an interview of an hour with the delegates, General von Falkenhayn reappeared and announced that he had resigned and had accepted the delegates' terms. These were:

First—Immediate peace.

Second—That telegrams be sent to the front instructing the soldiers to return to Germany.

Third—That no orders be given without the assent of the soldiers' committee.

Fourth—That all units, from division to company, shall elect representatives to the soldiers' committee.

The governor general asked that the Germans depart peacefully and respect life and property. German soldiers, who surrounded the beautiful ponds, broke their guns and threw the gun barrels into the water. They then formed a procession and singing the "Marseillaise" paraded the city behind the red flag. The only blood shed in Brussels occurred on Monday when a patrol detailed by the soldiers committee to keep order, fired upon a disorderly crowd, killing twelve civilians and wounding about thirty. The crowd had disregarded the firing of a blank volley by the soldiers.

ECONOMIC WEAPON MAY MAINTAIN ORDER

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, Nov. 15.—Germany must undergo a moral revolution as well as a political upheaval before she can be admitted to a league of nations, says Leon Bourgeois, former cabinet minister, who is president of a commission recently appointed to study the plan for a great combination of state for the future.

The universal war has demonstrated to all nations the necessity for an international constitution," he says. "This would assure to each nation the sanctity of its rights. Diplomatic and judicial measures could place a deterrent intolerable in state and not only the state but its citizens would suffer the legitimate economic penalties and hindrances that might possibly be used against the central powers."

"If this weapon should fail, there would remain international military intervention. But economic measures which would deprive a country of raw materials and interrupt land and sea transport would be sufficient to crush resistance."

SPAIN ADHERES TO 1912 POLICY

New Ministry Issues Note Saying Order Will Be Maintained Throughout Spain.

Madrid, Nov. 15.—At the first meeting of the new Spanish ministry, held early this week, it was unanimously decided, after an address by Premier Romanones, to continue the policy which was initiated in 1902 was affirmed in 1907 and 1913. The ministry has issued a note saying that the new government will be directed in a democratic spirit and guaranteeing that order will be maintained throughout Spain.

The foreign policy referred to in the above dispatch apparently alluded to a pacific agreement with France and Great Britain by which integrity of coast and insular and colonial possessions in the east Atlantic and Mediterranean were mutually guaranteed by the three countries. This foreign policy of Spain was considered a step aimed against German aggression. In 1907 the signature of a treaty between Spain, France and England carrying out the above objects was looked upon as the foundation of a "future United States of Europe."

SUPPORT WAR WORK FUND FOR SOLDIERS

Bery, Baker Appeals For Fund to Look After Welfare of Boys Over There.

(Associated Press Telegram.)
Washington, Nov. 15.—Support for the United War Work campaign to uphold America's sons abroad in the important tasks of peace ahead of them was asked today by Secretary Baker.

"I think all Americans now recognize the fine record of our army," said the war secretary, "but we must not fail also to appraise the work it has yet to do. Following the exhilaration of combat comes the tedium of peace, but the tasks of peace are infinitely important and we must uphold our sons as they perform them. This drive for the United War Work fund is a direct challenge to the measure of our appreciation. It is our way to reach arms of helpfulness to every distant place where the flag is untolded for the healing of humanity."

Provost Marshal General Crowder issued a statement emphasizing that money for the welfare workers will be more needed now than during the war.

"There is some fear on the part of the directors of the United War Work campaign," he said, "that the American people may fail to give the proper support to the great drive now going on to raise the United War Work fund because of the feeling that the war is over and there is little or no necessity for future large contributions."

"This feeling ought not to exist. Our boys will remain in the service for many weary months. New governments are not formed in a day, order cannot be established at the magic word of command. The period of reorganization and rehabilitation have to be gone through with. During this time the allied soldiers will have to be the policemen of that world; they will be doing as valuable services in the interests of world peace as they have done as world soldiers. They have men's work before them, they must now assist in reaping the fruits of victory they have gained."

AMERICA MUST

easier if Germany had fought a clean fight and not stained her hands with such crimes, but even so, we must be influenced by larger considerations.

"We must feel that in the case of common humanity there are other purposes besides the prevention of war, for which a league of nations is a sheer practical necessity. One of the first steps must be to create and organize hunger and ration all the countries where disaster threatens."

"The existing international machinery, which is the nucleus of a league of nations, probably will undertake this task. In the period of reconstruction after the war, all countries, allied, neutral and enemy, will have to be rationed for certain raw materials. Here again international machinery is necessary. We thus are making straight for a league of nations, and we must have the performance of these international functions."

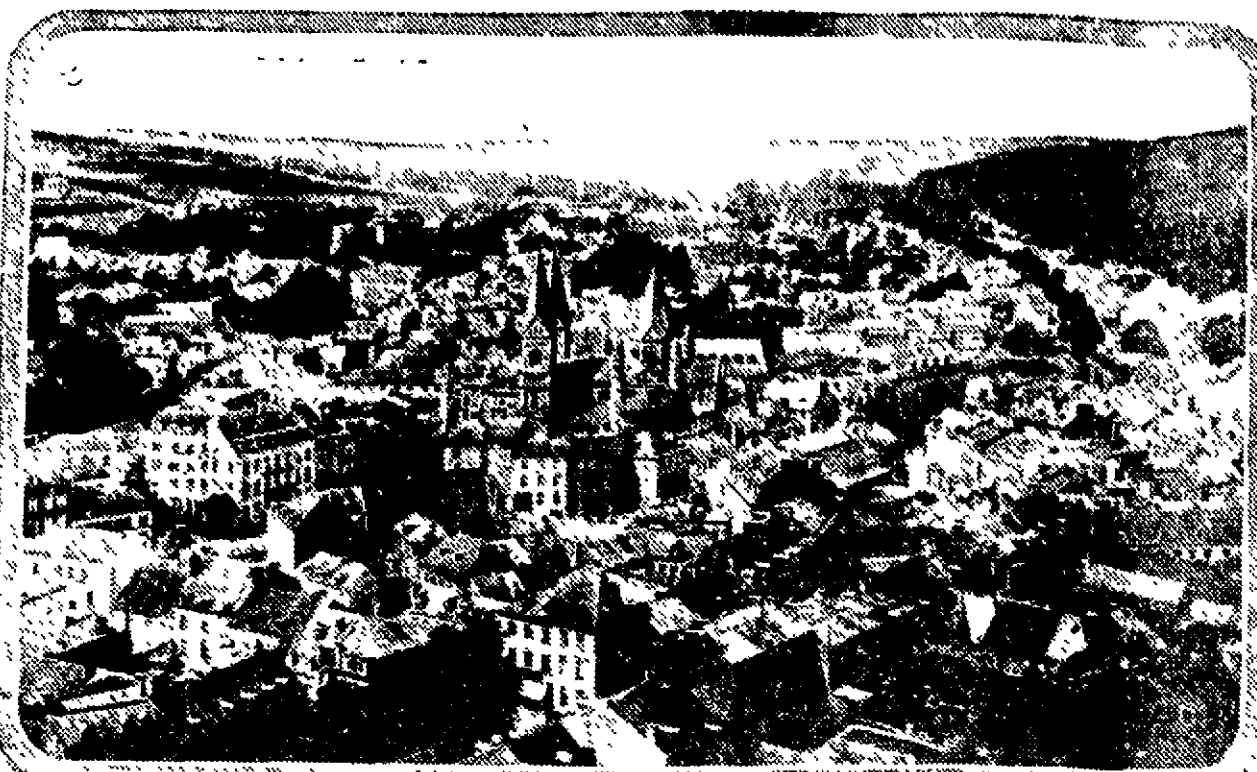

"Then as regards the primary object of the league from Finland to Constantinople, the map will be covered with small nations divided by profound antipathies and most of them with minorities conducive to internal weakness. We may therefore expect more dangers of war in Europe than in the past. Therefore it is imperative that we create an international organization to keep the peace."

"The league also would be useful in solving other problems. For instance when the league is established, America might be asked to act in some trouble in Turkey or Russia on behalf of the league which would give her general directions; or take the case of the former German colonies. Some of them must fairly and properly be given to the British dominions who conquered them and for whose future development and security they are necessary. But there may conceivably be others which the allies while refusing to restore them to Germany, as they cannot force what course the future development of Germany might take, might transfer to certain powers until their ultimate disposal is settled.

"Probably other international problems could be deferred in the same way. The task will be as difficult as it is great but where America joins hands with Europe and Great Britain in attempting to do it, I have no doubt a solution will be found."

"The age of miracles is never past. The history of South Africa since the Boer war bears immortal testimony to the wisdom of a policy of conciliation. If the victors of this great war all wars imitate the temper of Great Britain on that occasion I have hope that the bitterness of this war may lead to a great conciliation of peoples in the future, perhaps even to the disappearance of war."

WHERE GERMAN MILITARY OFFICIALS LEARNED ARMISTICE TERMS.

FRENCH TOWNS ARE LIKE PUBLIC PARKS

Licking Soldier Says Villages Unharmed by War Are Beautiful—Fire Places Heat Homes.

Soldiers enjoy trips through quaint old French towns some of which the streets are so well kept that one imagines he is walking through parks so writes Robert Kiehlman to his mother, Mrs. Jennie Kiehlman. The letter in part reads:

"I am well and feeling good, and hope when this letter reaches you it will find you the same. This is a very beautiful country over here. Everything is green just like good old summertime. They have very nice roads. They are all macadamized and have trees on both sides. It is just like walking through a park. The homes are very old. They are built of stone and concrete there are no farm houses, and they look very old. The French never use any stoves. They have the old-fashioned fireplaces. The barns and houses are built together and the horses are scarce. There is just a few of them. They use oxen to do their work with. There are lots of grapes for wine, as that is all the French people drink, they never drink water. I am getting lots of good wine. I go to the winery almost every night, but it is not as good as old Newark beer. Well, mother, everything is very old to what it is in the United States. The way I came here was in a boxcar, but I enjoyed it at that. It made me laugh to think about it."

MAY ARRANGE FOOD RELIEF FOR GERMANS

(Associated Press Telegram.)
Washington, Nov. 15.—News that an American military mission, headed by Major General Charles D. Rhodes, commander of the 42nd (Rainbow) Division, at last reports, will visit German headquarters at Spa, Belgium, next Saturday aroused much speculation here. So far as could be learned no official information as to the object of the trip had reached Washington.

The purely military character of the mission was reported as an indication that General Rhodes' trip was for the purpose of arranging with the German high command for the occupation of various fortresses in Alsace-Lorraine which he is in front of the American line. These include the Metz-Thionville positions and Strassburg on the Rhine. Previous reports show that definite dates have been fixed by January 15 for his entry into these German strongholds and his directions to the Germans as to the time and method of their retirement may be carried by the American officers.

It is possible that immediate steps to relieve the food situation in Germany, to some extent with the surplus stores of the American army in France, may be under consideration. General Pershing has available at least a three-months stock for his forces and it is constantly being increased. Secretary Baker indicated yesterday that it might be possible to use some part of this reserve to meet urgent needs in army territory although he did not say any definite plans had been framed.

Two young men from the Avoca township—Charles Harris and Thomas "Shore" Wagner started for this morning on a rabbit hunting expedition, getting out at 5 o'clock, and taking the first car to leave after having secured permission in advance to hunt over a dozen different farms. Both nimrods were in gay spirits and promised to bring back a big supply of game, but if they do it is a moral certainty that they will have purchased it for the hunters left their ammunition at the local shop over night and a few well-meaning friends, fearful that the hunters might accidentally shoot one another or commit some crime on the farms over which they intended to hunt, extracted all the shot out of every shell which they had purchased, and the expert hunters are left with the fun of shooting blank cartridges all day long.

Walk-Over SHOES

These Are Days of So Many More Steps

Here is a shoe to help women. It has been called "The Army Shoe for American Women." But army shoes can't have the graceful lines of shoes designed for the smaller feet of women. We prefer to call it an occupation-shoe—a get-things-done shoe, aidful to our volunteer women-workers in the numerous ways they keep busy for their country.

It has a restful street-arch, an attractive toe, and a military heel. A serviceable heel makes every step less tiring in these days of so many more steps. Let us show you how well it looks on your foot.

The name Walk-Over means good shoes the world over.

GERMAN WOMEN APPEAL FOR FOOD

Send Wireless Message to President's Wife Telling of Food Conditions in Germany.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Appeals addressed to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Miss Jane Addams of Chicago on behalf of the women of Germany asking that the armistice terms be modified to prevent "unspeakable disaster" have been sent from the German wireless station at Nauen. They were picked up by the military intelligence radio at Haul, and were made public last night by the war department.

The appeal to Miss Addams was from Anita Augustburg at Poz, under date of yesterday. It is said that the German women, "dreadful and pitiful," urged "their American sisters" to interfere to have the armistice terms modified.

"We are all free voters of a free republic now, greeting you heartily," the appeal said.

The appeal to Mrs. Wilson said the women and children of Germany have been "starving for years," and that they "will die from hunger by the millions" unless the terms of the armistice are changed so that sufficient rolling stock will be made available for moving food from the farms. It was dated at Berlin and signed by Gertrude Baepner and Alice Solomon for the national council of women of Germany.

"DID THE TRICK," SAYS MRS. CORY

Recovers From Nerve and Stomach Trouble and Tells How.

The thousands of voluntary testimonials received from persons in all parts of the country prove conclusively that T. J. Evans' "Master Medicine" is giving satisfaction to the majority of persons who use it. Among several recently received from Akron is the following: "I am Mrs. R. N. Cory, who lives at 81 North Broadway. She says: 'I had indigestion for nearly one year and had to be very careful of what I ate. Rich or greasy food would fall to digest and would form gas on my stomach causing severe bloating pains. 'I was nervous and restless at night and felt weak and tired all the time. I was depressed and irritable and unable to work. When I walked my knees would tremble. 'I read about Tanlac helping so many people that I tried it. It certainly did the trick. I have overcome my nervousness, and my stomach is as well as ever. I now can eat anything I want and enjoy my work again. 'Tanlac to any one that is suffering from stomach ills and need a nerve tonic.' Tanlac may be obtained in Newark at Egan's Arcade Drug Store. Tanlac may also be procured at the Evans Pharmacy, (Wardens Hotel) block, east side of square, Newark, and the Hebron Drug Store, Hebron, O.—Adv.

FORMER N. Y. MAYOR IS DEAD IN PARIS

Paris, Nov. 15.—(4:35 a. m.)—Robert A. Van Wyck, former mayor of New York City, is dead here.

FIRST IN GREATER NEW YORK. New York, Nov. 15.—Robert Anderson, New York, whose death in Paris was announced today, was the first man elected mayor of New York City after the adoption of the charter under which Brooklyn, Long Island City and other places adjoining the former city of New York were consolidated with it to form what became known as "Greater New York."

Mr. Van Wyck, a Democrat, entered the mayor's office in 1916 and served until 1922. In the election he defeated Seth Lowe and General F. B. Tracy. Born here July 20, 1849, Mr. Van Wyck was graduated from the Columbia college law school in 1875; was soon admitted to the bar and practiced law until 1889, when he was elected a judge of the city court and became presiding judge. He was founder and first president of the Holland Society.

ASK FARMERS TO GIVE TO THE FUND

Washington, Nov. 15.—Farmers of the United States were called upon by Secretary Houston today to contribute to the United War Work campaign for $170,000,000 for continuing the work of the seven war service organizations administering to the needs of American troops overseas and in this country.

"The cause is great," said Secretary Houston. "The total amount asked for is great; but not greater than the patriotism of the American farmer. Every house that flies the service flag will have a special interest in the success of this campaign. Every dollar means added cheer and comfort to the son of such a house."

"It's a good plan to begin at the bottom," said the hopeful individual. "On the principle that you won't have so far to fall, I suppose," suggested the pessimist.

ENGLISH POLITICS IN CHAOTIC STATE

Lloyd George Government Asks to Be Retained For Period of Peace Negotiations.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM
London, Thursday, Nov. 14.—The issue in the coming elections is whether the country will endorse Lloyd George's proposal that the present coalition government with himself as premier should be continued after the war for the work of making peace and carrying on the labor of reconstruction.

Never before were British political conditions as chaotic as they are today. The electoral reform bill adopted by parliament during the summer of 1917, it gave the ballot to all women over 30, men over 21, and soldiers under 21. This added 3,000,000 females and 2,000,000 males to the voting lists. How the women will vote and what parties the soldiers will support none can predict.

The prospect of plunging the country into the excitement and expense of an election at such a time as the present has excited strong opposition. On the other hand the legal life of the present house of commons expired three years ago, and it has extended its own tenure of office from term to term by resolutions. This has been an informal proceeding which would have been impossible except that it had the endorsement of public opinion, because no one wanted an election during the great war.

M'ADOO ASKS TEN BILLIONS IN 2 YEARS

Washington, Nov. 15.—Revision of the pending revenue bill with a view to yielding $5,000,000,000, payable during the calendar year 1919, and not less than $4,000,000,000 the following year, was recommended by Secretary McAdoo yesterday in a letter to Chairman Simmons of the Senate finance committee, setting forth the treasury's financial program for the reconstruction period.

The secretary estimated the expenditures during the fiscal year ending next June 30 now would be $18,000,000,000 instead of $24,000,000,000, estimated before there were prospects of peace. He declared for continuation of the policy of leading to the alien for a limited time during reconstruction after peace to enable them to purchase foodstuffs, raw materials and manufactured products in this country.

Expenditures of the government during the present fiscal year were estimated by the secretary at $18,000,000,000 in comparison with estimate of $24,000,000,000 made before there seemed to be any likelihood of peace. In explaining the need for maintaining the total sum needed by taxation this year at $6,000,000,000, the amount now carried by the revenue bill as revised by the Senate, Secretary McAdoo said there is no reason to expect a decided reduction in government expenses in the fiscal year ending next June 30 if "a wise policy of readjustment and transfer of activities from a war to a peace basis is followed." Loans to the allied governments must be continued for a time, he said, though in reduced amounts.

Reversing his former attitude against payment of income and profits taxes in installments, Mr. McAdoo in this letter recommended training of the revenue bill so as to provide for tax payments in four installments, saying this would give great additional relief to tax payers during the reconstruction period as well as give the government a steady flow of revenue.

Other recommendations, all of which Chairman Simmons, according to a statement last night, has approved, include: No higher excess profits tax rates for payments next year than are in the existing act; elimination of war and excess profits taxes for 1920 except profits on contracts negotiated during the war period; increase of corporation and individual income tax rates for 1919, payable in 1920; determination of the basis for next year's taxes payable in 1920, and prompt enactment of the pending bill.

WOULD MAKE NOV. 11 NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Washington, Nov. 15.—Representative Fess of Ohio, Republican, introduced a resolution setting aside July 4, 1919, "as a day of world celebration to commemorate the ending of the war and the beginning of the new era of peace and cooperation in Washington to which all governments, including the central powers, will be invited."

A resolution by Representative Harrison of Mississippi, Democrat, would make November 11 a national holiday.

CUT THIS OUT

Old English Recipe for Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England the catarrh of the middle ear has been recognized for centuries as a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the best English clinics is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Eucalypti Extract. Take this in a glass of water and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial. T. J. Evans.—(Adv.)

LICKING COUNTY MEMORIAL

Across the top of the first page of last Monday's Advocate—the day that the armistice bringing peace was signed—appeared the Licking county county Roll of Honor, the names of these of our boys who made the supreme sacrifice for the sake of world democracy.

It is not too early right now to begin to plan a way to revive the memories of the Licking county boys who took part in the great war. The memorial should be to those who served and who sacrificed their lives and to those who served and are who are to return home.

Just what form this memorial shall take is open for discussion but that there shall be a memorial all will agree. Whether it be a building, an arch or take some other form it should possess beauty and dignity and should be imperishable. The name of every Licking county man who served under the Stars and Strips should be given a conspicuous place. We are all proud of our boys and we want not only the soldiers and sailors themselves but all the world and future generations to know it.

FOOTBALL SEASON.

Football, once the center of interest in school and college life through the fall is a pretty dead sport this year. The colleges have been turned into military camps and have been devoting their attention to preparing to make touchdowns on the heads of the Huns. They are running football in an impromptu fashion, but the sport lacks the usual ginger. In the high schools the teams are doing something.

The concentration of interest on the war has made it hard to keep up the usual "pep" but now that the armistice is signed perhaps greater interest will be taken in the Thanksgiving day games.

The objection formerly made to football as a brutal sport is scarcely whispered this year. Its casualties are so insignificant compared with the losses of real war that we have forgotten that men are occasionally killed on the gridiron.

To the man who really attends a game, it does seem rather gory to see a fellow carried off the field with a broken arm or leg in the first ten minutes. Still these are days when the emphasis is on manliness and courage and hardness. There is a feeling that young men must learn to endure and take some chances.

Most of the accidents in football occur to poorly trained boys who are not rugged enough for the game and have not learned how to protect themselves in the tight places. Schools and colleges do not do well to encourage the game unless they have good trainers who will see that all taking the chances of this rough and tumble game are well fitted for it, and thoroughly hardened before they are put into any severe contest.

For the majority of students other games like tennis and basketball are better adapted, since they give a chance

INSTRUCTION IN CITIZENSHIP.

It is amazing how many are being used to promote efficiency in war making, that can be taken over into peace times and used to promote good citizenship and civic causes. For instance, the recent move of the war department by which boards of instruction are being appointed all over the country.

These boards find that a great many men do not understand about the causes of the war. They have no knowledge of the requirements of camp life and the benefits of military service. After they have met with these boards of instructors, the soldiers get an entirely new idea of the war, and the conditions of soldier life. They are better fitted to give good service.

A parallel condition exists in the matter of citizenship. The majority of our people become voters without any adequate conception of what good citizenship requires, and what the community gains when there is a good civic spirit. We need some instructing authority that shall impart these ideas to naturalized aliens and young voters.

Also there are a great many men of mature age who have no just conception of what citizenship requires. It is a hard thing to get at them. If boards of instruction in citizenship were appointed from our very best citizens, some people would think there was politics in the move, and in a good many cases there might be.

But it does seem that after the war there ought to be a nation-wide effort to get a better civic spirit and better citizenship among all voters. At least there should be classes and lectures to give voters a better idea of what citizenship requires. The idea needs to be impressed on every voter that only by the co-operation of everyone in community causes and the obligations of citizenship shall we ever get good government and social advance.

ONE ENEMY LEFT.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Germany, Bulgaria, Turkey and Austria-Hungary lie crushed and helpless. The war against the central powers is ended. Yet the allied democracies have still an avowed and active enemy. This enemy is not a nation. It is the bloody rabble of Bolsheviki that still dominates a large part of Russia and threatens ever more cruel and destructive war.

The Bolsheviki have declared themselves the enemies of the allies. There have been reports to the effect that some of the Bolsheviki leaders, certain of Germany's doom, have sought to make peace.

There can be no peace with Bolshevism. A great democracy could enter into no agreement with the irresponsible scoundrels who pose as the heads of the soviet "government." Bolsheviki are a menace that is a successful outlaw, and with such men no self-respecting nation can sign a covenant.

Did You Know

That quintessence signifies literally the fifth essence? The word dates from the time when it was generally believed that there were four simple elements, fire, air, water and earth, earth being the lowest and fire the highest. Some Pythagorean philosophers then added a fifth element, ether, supposed to be purer and subtler than fire. The word quintessence has thus acquired the significance of the most subtle ingredient of any substance.

A jack-o'-lantern I can't make.
For Hoovers (I hope) to die.

Up into pumpkin pie.

I cannot scatter grains of corn,
Or these food conservators say.
You call 'em (sure as you are born)
For me will make it hot.

And smearing windows with good soap,
They say must not be done:

Us boys can't have no fun.

But Hoover works for Uncle Sam
And when he says to me
That kids be good, why then I am
As good as I can be.

Because he says we've got to scrimp
And scrimp some more, until
The things we save will put a crimp
In butcher Kaiser Bill.

No pumpkin, corn or cabbage stalks,
Not even soap for us.
And all because those Potsdam gawks
Have raised this awful fuss.

But next year when the war is thru
And Bill has paid the cost
We'll turn things upside down just to
Make up for what we've lost.

A NEW KIND OF PEACE.

(Philadelphia Record)

The war is usually followed by a re-drawing of maps, but we have had a new kind of war, and we are entering upon a new sort of peace, and the new maps will be drawn by an entire new class of draftsmen.

One of the earliest declarations of the President in looking forward to the end of the war was that populations were not to be parceled out among victors, like real estate or domestic animals. The prime consideration in determining the political status of any people must be its own rights and wishes.

This is a new thing in the history of the world. The conference, or congress, which will draw the new map of the world will be as unlike the congress of Vienna in 1815 as possible. Then the representatives of monarchs met to apportion the earth among their masters in accordance with their interests and their relative military power of asserting their interests. The

The Bishop's Answer

Bishop Matt S. Hughes of Portland, Oregon, has lost a son, killed in action "somewhere in France." This gives greater significance to a poem he has just written in answer to one written by Edwin Markham and entitled "Markham's Question," which follows:

"Oh, mother, will you longer give your sons,
To feed the awful hunger of the guns?
What is the worth of all these battle drums
If from the field the loved one never comes?
What are loud hosannas to the brave
If all your share is some forgotten grave?"

The bishop's poem, copy of which was sent to a Licking county man whose son fell in battle in France, follows:
"God gave my son in trust to me:
Christ died for him, and he should be
A man for Christ, He is his own
And God's and man's; not mine alone.
He was not mine to 'give.' He gave
Himself that he might help save
All that Christians should revere.
All that enlightened men should hold
Dear."

"To feed the guns? Oh, torpid soul!
Awake and see life as a whole.
When freedom, honor, justice, right,
Were threatened by the despot's might
With heart aflame and soul alight
He bravely went for God to fight Against base savages who
The laws of God and man defied:
Who maidens pure and sweet defiled:
He did not go to 'feed the guns'.
He went to save from ruthless Huns
His home and country, and to be
A guardian of democracy."

"What if he does not come?" you say?
Ah, well, my sky would be more gray.
But through the clouds the sun would shine.
And vital memories be mine:
God's test of manhood is, know:
Not, 'Will he come?' but, 'Did he go?'
And yet he went with purpose high
To fight for peace, and overthrow
The plan of Christ's relentless foe.
He died not the battlefield:
He went to make fierce vandals yield.
If he comes not again to me
I shall be sad, but not that he
Went like a man, a hero true.
His part unspeakably to do.
My heart will feel unquiet pride
That for humanity he died.
'Forgotten grave?' The fish plex
Awaken no deep response in me.
For though his grave I may not see,
My boy will never forgotten be:
My real son can never die.
This but his body that may lie
In foreign land, and I shall keep
Remembrance fond, forever, deep
Within my heart of my true son
Because of triumphs that he won.
'It matters not where some men live,
If, dear son, his life must give.
Hosannas I will sing for pride
Even though my eyes with tears are dim'
And when the war is over, when
His gallant comrades come again,
I'll cheer them as they're marching by.
Rejoicing that they did not die
And when his vacant place I see,
My heart will bound with joy that he
Was mine so long—my fine young son—
And cheer for him whose work is done."

His Responsibilities Are Not Ended—The New Democracy Must Be Fed.

INSURING SOLDIERS' LIVES.

(Ohio State Journal.)
There were 18,000 soldiers who died of influenza and the insurance upon their lives amounted to $170,000,000. What an immense sum to be scattered among the soldiers' families. Surely no parent was ever so careful of the interest of his children as Uncle Sam was of the boys who went out to fight for the old flag. Nothing could be more charming than the solicitude shown by the nation for the boys who stood by it in the days of its peril. It is a great encouragement to the boys when called upon in the future to know that their country will watch over them in every way a loving parent could. The soldiers we clothed and fed better than they would have been at home, and when they died there was left a neat sum for those who were dependent upon them. Isn't this a great country?

WHY GERMANY COLLAPSED

With the American army at Sedan, the British approaching Waterloo, and the whole southern frontier of Germany opened to Allied armies through the surrender of Austria, Germany was doomed when her representatives met Marshal Foch and Admiral Wemyss to agree on an armistice. As The Evening Post (New York) remarks, "Foch, the master, has played with skilled touch on the keys of a mighty organ from the North Sea to the Meuse; and in the final harmony the American Army has rung true."

Splendid Two-Page Colored Map in This Week's Number

This fine double-page Map is printed in two colors and presents the "Scene of the Western Battle-Line." It shows all territory from London to the River Rhine, including all of Belgium, Luxemburg, Western Germany, and Northern France. The famous Hindenburg line as it existed before March 21, 1918, is indicated, also the line of furthest German advance this year in the big drives of March, April, May, and June, and the present line of battle where the Allied armies are driving the Germans back, including the terrain contiguous to Sedan where the American doughboys have just won one of the most brilliant victories of the war. The Map is prepared with a special view to the conclusion of peace with Germany and shows all of Alsace-Lorraine, which Germany undoubtedly must surrender to France. The great fortress cities of the Rhine, which will no doubt be occupied by Allied garrisons as guarantees that Germany will pay for the damage she has done in the war, are also clearly shown. Practically all of the towns that are being liberated by the victorious Allies' advance and which are mentioned from day to day in the press dispatches are clearly visualized. This Map is so valuable as to be well worthy of preservation for present and future consultation.

GRANVILLE

(Special to the Advocate.)
Granville, Nov. 15.—The meeting of the Council of Defense Thursday afternoon while not largely attended, owing to lack of advertising and a conflict of engagements, was interesting and profitable. One of the measures urged by the state board—in Ohio as in other states—was discussed at the meeting was the patriotic duty of early Christmas buying. This was set forth as not only desirable but as highly necessary and December 5 fixed as the latest date on which packages should be sent. Women are expected to create the wide spread sentiment for this measure which women always can create for or against any measure at any time. They are advised to (a) "Buy useful gifts"—toys excepted. (b) "Buy early" for Christmas week. (c) "Don't burden local delivery service." "Work with the merchants. See that the assurance made on behalf of the retail trade, before the Council of National Defense on August 28, under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce, are carried out."

In the discussion which followed the reading of this letter, several ladies spoke, feelingly of the failure of merchants to comply with the requirements for early buying; of their persistent practice of saving their choicest holiday goods for Christmas week. No matter how considerate nor how patriotic the majority of Christmas buyers are, the whole plan fails, when the merchants withhold their most attractive wares for late comers.

Another matter discussed was the effort by the Women's committee to file the names of all women who have done war work. The remark is heard in every community that only a few of its women have carried the brunt of the war relief work. But a little investigation would prove that the converse is true; that only a few women have failed to do some form of war work in every community. The issuing of certificates, if generally complied with, would prove highly gratifying to the Women's committee and would acquit many a woman of the unjust suspicion of having been a slacker.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

POSTMASTER C. C. HUGHES.

MRS. C. C. HUGHES.

Postmaster and Mrs. C. C. Hughes, of Ulster celebrated on Thursday, November 14, the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The day proved a gala one, and the home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers. The golden chrysanthemums predominated.

Just fifty years ago yesterday C. C. Hughes and Elvira Bell were united in marriage. On Thursday both the bride and bridegroom of half a century ago took part in all the festivities celebrating the evening, and warmly welcomed their guests. A dinner of delightful appointments was served, about one hundred and fifty guests being present. Among them was the Rev. Mr. Cook and Congressman W. A. Ashbrook.

Mr. Leman Bell, was toastmaster for the occasion and the after dinner hours were devoted to talks and music. In the evening the younger guests were entertained.

Mr. M. P. Ashbrook, passed through Newark this morning en route from Jefferson barracks to Camp Meigs, Washington.

CARD OF THANKS.
Harry Bolln and his mother, Mrs. J. Bolln, wish to express their heartfelt gratitude to friends and neighbors, who were so helpful during their bereavement, and to acknowledge the kind attentions of Dr. Ercelford, J. M. Jones and daughter and those who sent the beautiful offerings of flowers.

THANK YOU.
The Board of Managers of the City Hospital wishes to thank the good people of Newark who responded so generously in the recent "rag campaign." The sum of $305 was turned to the president of the Hospital Board from the sale of rags.

Public acknowledgment is also due to Mayor Atherton who was instrumental in securing the enterprise and pushing it to a successful finish.

TELLS OF WORK IN GREAT SHIPYARD

The following letter has been received from W. B. Wingerter who is employed by the government as an inspector at the big plan of the submarine boat corporation at Newark, N. J.

"Newark, N. J., Nov. 5, 1918.
"Dear Harry—Well here I am in Newark, N. J., at the big shipyard. I am keeping my promise and am writing to you. I am in the first place, glad I am working for Uncle Sam.
"I am in what is called the 'efficiency department.' I inspect a certain ship for three days, then go to another for three days.

"We are building 150 ships for the United States shipping board. They are wonderful ships. I will give you some idea regarding them.
"The deadweight carrying capacity is 5500 tons, but when loaded she has a displacement of about 7800 tons. Length is 343 feet, beam 46, and speed 10 1/2 knots per hour. The vessel is an oil burner.

"Approximately 27 steel mills, 56 fabricating plants, 29 foundries, machine shops, pipe-factories and equipment shops are engaged in the production of parts for these ships. The Mt. Vernon Bridge works ships us a lot of parts.

"These vessels are built from structural steel, which is used in the construction of the hull, the machinery, the bridges and office buildings. The various steel parts of the vessel's hull and superstructure are fabricated as completely as practicable in structural steel shops located in the country and the assembled here at the Newark shipyard into a complete vessel. 18,000 men are employed here, and two ships are launched a week. Later we hope to make three per week. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Schermerhorn, Mr. Hurley and other officials were here at the last launching.

"Give my regards to my friends and believe me,
"Yours truly,
"W. B. Wingerter."

YANKS IN ENGLAND MOVE INTO BARRACKS

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Jenkins of 109 Denison avenue from their son Norbert B. Jenkins who is now at Duxford, England. "This being Sunday I will write you a few lines to let you know I am thinking of you all.

"I was at Cambridge this week, as we have the bar home in the barracks last night. The tents were getting awful cold. I caught a cold the last night, but I am getting better. These barracks are fine, and will be warm this winter, for I suppose I will spend most of it here. I have been in perfect health since I have been over here, we were issued warm, heavy socks and winter underwear and they keep you nice and warm.

"I am getting fatter since I came out here, I weighed myself last Thursday at the station and I was surprised as I weighed 158 pounds. I only weighed 141 pounds when I left the states.

"The boys seem to be coming our way alright, the other states but the boys are fighting some. I see a good many disabled soldiers in town that are back from the front, and they tell all about it. I will tell you about it some day, I suppose, but Germany will be whipped before I see you.

"Got a letter from Mabel Moffett, he's near here, he was in London a couple of weeks ago.

"They are arranging tags for us to fill out and send home and ones we wish a Christmas box. I can only get one package from the states. I will send the tag soon now, as the package must not be over 9 1/2 x 11 inches and not more than three pounds. It won't be much, but it will be greatly appreciated.

He had to fly, it's very true.
But he will not need wings,
Just an asbestos coat or two,
Some ice and other things
Cabbages and Kings.
The Kaiser has given up his crown for everyone to get a lot of athletic exercise and skill whether he has had much training or not. It is a mistake for students to get so excited over the performance of any team that they neglect to get the benefit of the games to which they are adapted.

INSTRUCTION IN CITIZENSHIP.
It is amazing how many are being used to promote efficiency in war making, that can be taken over into peace times and used to promote good citizenship and civic causes. For instance, the recent move of the war department by which boards of instruction are being appointed all over the country.
These boards find that a great many men do not understand about the causes of the war. They have no knowledge of the requirements of camp life and the benefits of military service. After they have met with these boards of instructions, the soldiers get an entirely new idea of the war, and the conditions of soldier life. They are better fitted to give good service.
A parallel condition exists in the matter of citizenship. The majority of our people become voters without any adequate conception of what good citizenship requires, and what the community gains when there is a good civic spirit. We need some instructing authority that shall impart impart these ideas to naturalized aliens and young voters.
Also there are a great many men of mature age who have no just conception of what citizenship requires. It is a hard thing to get at them. If boards of instruction in citizenship were appointed from our very best citizens, some people would think there was politics in the move, and in a good many cases there might be.
But it does seem that after the war there ought to be a nation-wide effort to get a better civic spirit and better citizenship among all voters. At least there should be classes and lectures to give voters a better idea of what citizenship requires. The idea needs to be impressed on every voter that only by the co-operation of everyone in community causes and the obligations of citizenship shall we ever get good government and social advance.
(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
Germany, Bulgaria, Turkey and Austria-Hungary lie crushed and helpless. The war against the central powers is ended. Yet the allied democracies have still an avowed and active enemy. This enemy is not a nation. It is the hideous rubble of Bolsheviki that still dominates a large part of Russia and threatens ever more cruel and destructive work. The Bolsheviki have declared themselves the enemies of the allies. There have been reports to the effect that some of the Bolsheviki leaders, certain of Germany's doom, have sought to make peace.
There can be no peace with Bolshevism. A great democracy could enter into no agreement with the irresponsible scoundrels who pose as heads of the soviet "government." The Bolsheviki are well equipped for their outlaws, and with such men no self-respecting nation can sign a covenant.
One of two fates is in store for Bolshevism. Either the Russian people will dispose of the gang or the allies, when their other work of reconstruction is well under way, will step in and attend to the job. This would not be a war. It would be merely the expedition of an international sheriff's posse to round up notorious cut throats.

LICKING COUNTY MEMORIAL

Across the top of the first page of last Monday's Advocate—the day that the armistice bringing peace was signed—appeared the Licking county county Roll of Honor, the names of those of our boys who made the supreme sacrifice for the sake of world democracy.
It is not too early right now to begin to plan a way to revive the memories of the Licking county boys who took part in the great war. The memorial should be to those who served and who sacrificed their lives and to those who served and are who are to return home.
Just what form this memorial shall take is open for discussion but that there shall be a memorial all will agree.
Whether it be a building, an arch or take some other form it should possess beauty and dignity and should be imperishable. The name of every Licking county man who served under the Stars and Strips should be given a conspicuous place. We are all proud of our boys and we want not only the soldiers and sailors themselves but all the world and future generations to know it.

FOOTBALL SEASON.

Football, once the center of interest in school and college life through the fall is a pretty dead sport this year. The colleges have been turned into military camps, and have been devoting their attention to preparing to make touchdowns on the heads of the Huns. They are running football in an impromptu fashion, but the sport lacks the usual ginger. In the high schools the teams are doing something.
The concentration of interest on the war has made it hard to keep up the usual "pep" but now that the armistice is signed perhaps greater interest will be taken in the Thanksgiving day games.
The objection formerly made to football as a brutal sport is scarcely whispered this year. Its casualties are so insignificant compared with the losses of real war that we have forgotten that men are occasionally killed on the gridiron.
To the man who really attends a game, it does seem rather gory to see a fellow carried off the field with a broken arm or leg in the first ten minutes. Still these are days when the emphasis is on manliness and courage and hardness. There is a feeling that young men must learn to endure and take some chances.
Most of the accidents in football occur to poorly trained boys who are not rugged enough for the game and have not learned how to protect themselves in the tight places. Schools and colleges do not do well to encourage the game unless they have good trainers who will see that all taking the chances of this rough and tumble game are well fitted for it, and thoroughly hardened before they are put into any severe contest.
For the majority of students other games like tennis and basket ball, are better adapted, since they give a chance new map of the world will not be made in that way.

The restoration of Alsace Lorraine will not be due to the fact that France has won in a war with Germany, but to the fact that the people of the Lost Provinces have never lost their consciousness of being French. They will be restored to France because they have a right to dispose of their own political future. The re-creation of the Kingdom of Poland will not be for the purpose of menacing Germany and Austria and Russia, but to give the Poles their own country and a government of their own. It is their right.
The Turkish Empire will be dismembered, not because it has been conquered, but because all the subject races of Turkey have a right to be delivered from oppression and from the most weak and wicked government on earth. What were formerly the colonies of Germany will not be given back to her, not because Germany has been beaten and is therefore a fair subject for spoliation, but because German official reports, German judicial proceedings and the writings of German publicists condemn Germany of savagery and incapacity in administering its colonies. A people who confess that they cannot make moral conquests must not have colonies. If they cannot maintain their authority except by force in its most brutal and cruel forms they must not have any authority. A human regard for the native populations demands that the colonies delivered from Germany control shall remain emancipated. It is quite possible that two centuries ago Englishmen and Americans and Frenchmen were as savage toward native populations as the Germans have been in the twentieth century, but the fact is that they have grown civilized in two centuries and the Germans have not.

The new map of the world will not be drawn for kings or statesmen, but for the people directly concerned.

INSURING SOLDIERS' LIVES.
(Ohio State Journal)
There were 18,000 soldiers who died of influenza and the insurance upon their lives amounted to $170,000,000. What an immense sum to be scattered among the soldiers' families! Surely no parent was ever so careful of the interest of his children as Uncle Sam was of the boys who went out to fight for the old flag. Nothing could be more charming than the solicitude shown by the nation for the boys who stood by it in the days of its peril. It is a great encouragement to the boys when called upon in the future to know that their country will watch over them in every way a loving parent could. The soldiers we e clothed and fed better than they would have been at home, and when they died there was left a neat sum for those who were dependent upon them. Isn't this a great country?

Lamentation.
A jack-o'-lantern I can't make.
For Hoover hope to die.
Says all the pumpkins we must bake
Up into pumpkin pie.
I cannot scatter grains of corn,
Or these fatter conser—what—
You-call 'em, (sure as you are born)
For me will make it hot.
And smearing windows with good soap,
They say must not be done:
It's Halloween I know, but nope,
Us boys can't have no fun.
—Newark Advocate.
But Hoover works for Uncle Sam
And when he says to me
You kids be good, why then I am
As good as I can be.
Because he says we've got to scrimp
And scrimp some more, until
The things we save will put a crimp
In butcher Kaiser Bill
No pumpkin, corn or cabbage stalks,
Not even soap for us,
And all because those Potsdam gawks
Have raised this awful fuss.
But next year when the war is thru
And Bill has paid the cost
We'll turn things upside down just to
Make up for what we've lost.

A NEW KIND OF PEACE.

(Philadelphia Record)
The war is usually followed by a re-drawing of maps, but we have had a new kind of war, and we are entering upon a new sort of peace, and the new maps will be drawn by an entire new class of draftsmen.
One of the earliest declarations of the President in looking forward to the end of the war was that populations were not to be parceled out among victors, like real estate or domestic animals. The prime consideration in determining the political status of any people must be its own rights and wishes.
This is a new thing in the history of the world. The conference, or congress, which will draw the new map of the world will be as unlike the congress of Vienna 1815 as possible. Then the representatives of monarchs met to apportion the earth among their masters in accordance with their interests and their relative military power of asserting their interests. The

The Bishop's Answer

Bishop Matt S. Hughes of Portland, Oregon, has lost a son, killed in action "somewhere in France." This gives greater significance to a poem he has just written in answer to one written by Edwin Markham and entitled "Markham's Question," which follows:
"Oh, mother, will you longer give your sons,
To feed the awful hunger of the guns?
What is the worth of all these battle drums
If from the field the loved one never comes?
What are loud hosannas to the brave
If all your share is some forgotten grave?"
The bishop's poem, copy of which was sent to a Licking county man whose son fell in battle in France, follows:
"God gave my son in trust to me;
Christ died for him, and he should be
A man for Christ. He is his own
And God's and man's; not mine alone.
He was not mine to 'give.' He gave
Himself that he might help save
All that Christ's blood should save.
All that enlightened men should hold
Dear.
"To feed the guns? Oh, torpid soul!
Awake and see life as a whole.
When freedom, honor, justice, right,
Were threatened by the devil's might
With heart aflame and soul alight
He bravely went to meet the fight
Against base savages whose pride
The laws of God and man defied:
Who maidens pure and sweet defiled;
He did not go to 'feed the guns'.
He went to save from ruthless Huns
His home and country, and to be
A guardian of democracy.
"What if he does not come?" you say?
Ah, well, my sky would be more gray.
But through the clouds the sun would shine.
And vital memories be mine:
God's test of manhood is I know.
Not 'Will he come?' but, 'Did he go?'
And let he won't tell
To fight for peace, and overthrow
The plan of Christ's relentless foe.
He dreaded not the battlefield.
He went to make fierce vandals yield.
If he comes not again to me
I shall be sad, but not that he
Went like this to meet a hero's fate.
His part was wisely to die.
My heart will feel unquietude
That for humanity he died.
"Forgotten grave?" This selfish plea
Awaken no deep response in me.
For though his grave I may not see,
My boy will never be forgotten be:
My real son can never die.
This but his body that may lie
In foreign land, and I shall keep
Remembrance fond, forever, deep
Within my heart of my true son
Because of triumphs that he won.
"It matters not where some men live,
In dear son his life must give.
Hosannas will sing for him
Even though my eyes with tears are dim.
And when the war is over, when
His gallant comrades come again,
I'll cheer them as they're marching by,
Rejoicing that they did not die.
And when his town comes place I see,
My heart will bound with joy that he
Was mine so long—my fine young
son—
And cheer for him whose work is done."

His Responsibilities Are Not Ended—The New Democracy Must Be Fed.

WHY GERMANY COLLAPSED

With the American army at Sedan, the British approaching Waterloo, and the whole southern frontier of Germany opened to Allied armies through the surrender of Austria, Germany was doomed when her representatives met Marshal Foch and Admiral Wemyss to agree on an armistice. As The Evening Post (New York) remarks, "Foch, the master, has played with skilled touch on the keys of a mighty organ from the North Sea to the Meuse; and in the final harmony the American Army has rung true."

Splendid Two-Page Colored Map in This Week's Number

This fine double-page Map is printed in two colors and presents the "Scene of the Western Battle-Line." It shows all territory from London to the River Rhine, including all of Belgium, Luxemburg, Western Germany, and Northern France. The famous Hindenburg line as it existed before March 21, 1918, is indicated, also the line of furthest German advance this year in the big drives of March, April, May, and June, and the present line of battle where the Allied armies are driving the Germans back, including the terrain contiguous to Sedan where the American doughboys have just won one of the most brilliant victories of the war. The Map is prepared with a special view to the conclusion of peace with Germany and shows all of Alsace-Lorraine, which Germany undoubtedly must surrender to France. The great fortress cities of the Rhine, which will no doubt be occupied by Allied garrisons as guarantees that Germany will pay for the damage she has done in the war, are also clearly shown. Practically all of the towns that are being liberated by the victorious Allies' advance and which are mentioned from day to day in the press dispatches are clearly visualized. This Map is so valuable as to be well worthy of preservation for present and future consultation.

LAY IN SUPPLY OF COAL AT ONCE

State Fuel Heads Advise People to Purchase Now.

ENOUGH COAL IS AVAILABLE

With Rigid Conservation, People of Ohio Need Not Suffer From Fuel Famine.

The Fuel Administration for Ohio advises all domestic consumers to lay in their supply of winter coal at once, if they haven't already done so. There seems to be enough coal throughout Ohio for the needs of households, but it must not be wasted. If the people will conserve coal carefully, no one will have to suffer this winter from the shortage of this essential.

Just at the present time, the stopping of the shipments over the lakes has resulted in an available supply that will be distributed for residence purposes. This supply is figured out to be enough in most cases, and the few instances where fuel may not be available are being looked after as rapidly as possible.

It is quite likely that consumers will not be able to get the coal that they have been in the habit of using. A great deal of Pennsylvania coal was shipped into Ohio, and there has been a very considerable amount of anthracite shipped in in previous years. The anthracite this year has been limited to 40 per cent of the usual allotment, but this may be supplemented by the use of buckwheat size, of which there is at the present time a good supply on which there are no restrictions.

Bituminous coal, on the contrary, by the zoning system now in use by the Fuel Administration, is shipped the shortest possible distance. Consequently, throughout the eastern part of the state the Ohio mines are supplying practically all the coal used. The same condition prevails in the central part. In the western part of the state there is a good deal of Indiana coal, and north of the Erie railroad the supply of anthracite will have to be filled out with bituminous coal.

That this will, in many instances, cause more careful firing than has been the case heretofore, is evident. The use of bituminous and anthracite together presents problems that will require the close attention of householders until they are familiar with them. But the coals can be burned successfully together, and very often a burner that is designed for anthracite will be found to work without much difficulty with bituminous.

The situation is such that there is no margin of safety in the coal supply. The production of the mines has been stimulated considerably, but a shortage of men and the difficulties of transportation have prevented its expansion to a point where a surplus stock could be accumulated. The country is practically living with only a 30 days' supply ahead of it, and this 30 days' supply is in danger of interruption from bad weather later in the year. It is also being checked by the rapid spread of influenza among miners. Just how serious this will be there is no means of knowing at the present time, but it has been serious enough to give the Fuel Administration much concern. Doctors and nurses have been put into the district and every effort is being made to counteract the spread and to make conditions such that miners can work when the members of their family are stricken.

At the same time, a movement is on foot among the miners themselves, stimulated by officials of the fuel department, to secure a larger production by each miner. Most of the miners have responded very promptly to this demand. This larger production, however, has led in some cases to failure to clean the coal properly, this coming from smaller mines that are not equipped with the machinery necessary to do this work satisfactorily. The result has been in some cases a decrease in the efficiency of the fuel, and considerable dissatisfaction among coal owners. This, too, has received attention of the federal department of inspection, and efforts are being made to insure a clean coal supply.

Taking the situation as it stands today, Ohio is likely to receive the full amount of coal necessary for the manufacturing and transportation enterprises that are so essential to winning the war, all the coal necessary for homes, and probably a sufficient supply for that class of industries that are not engaged directly in war essentials and yet are necessary to the comfort and well-being of the people.

But all of these conditions are predicted on the saving by the people of fuel to the largest possible extent. Many householders will find it convenient to burn wood, which can be had throughout the most of Ohio in large quantities, and in that way they will assure themselves an adequate supply under all circumstances.

Fight Germany with your coal shovel. The less you use it the greater the victory.

Mrs. Kate Jones and daughter, Louise of St. Louis, are visiting friends here.

AMUSEMENTS

ALHAMBRA.
Tonight and Tomorrow.
Motion picture "Fame" will find a number of their favorites in Harold Lockwood's new Metro wonderplay, "The Square Deceiver," an adaptation of Francis Terry Elliott's novel, "Love for Myself Alone," which comes to the Alhambra theatre tonight.

Harold Lockwood, of course, heads the cast in the part of Billy Van Dyke. Lockwood, as everyone knows, is one of the screen's most popular stars and is recognized as everybody's favorite in the leading feminine role—that of Beatrice Forsythe, the "wonder girl"—appears Pauline Curley, a dainty, gold-haired beauty who is rapidly winning a name for herself. In the last year she has figured prominently in a number of Triangle productions and also played Princess Irene in Herbert Brenon's production of "The Fall of the Romanoffs."

William Clifford, whose characterization of the old tutor in Lockwood's best picture, "Paradise Garden," won him so much praise, also plays an important part in "The Square Deceiver."

Distinction of manner marks the work of Donna Mills, who plays the role of Mrs. Puffeather. Dick L'Estrange appears as Dick Blakesley, Van Dyke's chum. L'Estrange has made many friends during his four years before the camera in Lasky, Edison and Pathe productions.

AUDITORIUM.
Tonight.

"Headin' South," the Artcraft picture now being exhibited at the Auditorium theatre is an exceptional Fairbanks production, and is full of action from start to finish. In addition to the scenes photographed in Arizona, including the forest of giant cactus, two western villages were reproduced at the California studios at great expense. Because of the peculiar photographic effects necessary, requiring the aid of all sorts of electrical apparatus, Director Art Rosson ordered the building of these two complete villages. Expense was to be the least consideration in Fairbanks pictures.

"Headin' South," Douglas Fairbanks' latest picture for Artcraft, gives him the role of a western cowboy who takes an active part in troubles on the Mexican border. Fairbanks undertakes some hair-raising "stunts" with his fleet pony, "Smiles," and the photoplay bristles with gun-play and battle in which hundreds of cowboys run down a lawless band of Mexican ruffians. Conditions have arisen that desire for retaliation and punishment.

"Headin' South" is the attraction at the Auditorium theatre today and tomorrow.

A Good Program.
Large and appreciative crowds saw the Auditorium picture entertainment yesterday. The program is headed by "Doug Fairbanks, who is seen in "Headin' South." The Fourth Liberty Loan Picture taken during the opening of the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive, was loudly applauded. This is really a wonderful picture, showing nearly every fraternal and labor organization in the city, who were in the parade, will be continued today and tomorrow as an extra added feature; also today and tomorrow the two reel Fire Prevention Film, "The Locked Door." This feature, sent out throughout the country by the State Fire Marshal, is loaned to the city of Newark for two days and Mgr. Fenberg is requested by T. Alfred Fleming, state fire marshal, to have as many of its citizens see it that can.

"The Spirit of '17."
As a basis for "The Spirit of '17," in which Jack Pickford is to star at the Auditorium theatre on Sunday, Judge Willis Brown, the author, has employed an exceedingly timely theme, dealing with the labor agitations that are now causing so much trouble throughout our country. "The Spirit of '17" has its locale in the copper mining district, near which is situated an Old Soldiers' Home. Trouble is caused in the town as a result of the work of German agents, and young Davy Gliddens (Jack Pickford), conceives the novel idea of mobilizing the forces of the Old Soldiers' Home to defend the town until the regular troops can be summoned. A splendid cast and the excellent direction of William D. Taylor, have added their full quota of success to Mr. Pickford's newest picture.

What Started Fire Prevention Day.
At Chicago, the night of October 8, 1871, following a drought of almost unprecedented severity, a fire was discovered in a small wooden stable in the rear of property owned by Patrick O'Leary at 137 DeKoven street. The adjacent houses and buildings were of wood, dry as powder, and the fire spread with great rapidity. Before burning itself out, an area of 2150 acres had been made a blackened waste, property valued at $200,000,000 had been destroyed and 200 people were dead.

Of the area burned, 2124 acres were in the city limits. In this burned district there were 73 miles of streets, 18,000 buildings and 10,000 of these were homes. The estimated loss in the city was $185,510,000.

The cause of this holocaust was carelessness.

People began to awake to the fact that what had stricken Chicago, might also strike elsewhere, and that the way to eliminate careless fires was through fire prevention.

In order to have an object lesson constantly before the American people, it was determined to designate October 9, the anniversary of the great Chicago fire, as Fire Prevention Day, and on that day to wage a relentless warfare on rubbish, the careless use of matches, open fires and lights, and on all physical conditions that make for preventable fires.

And still, 80 per cent of America's fearful fire waste is due to carelessness, or to conditions the remedying of which would prevent fires.

Later, seeing that a toll of thousands of lives, and the crippling of thousands of workmen, were due to causes that care would prevent, the words "and accident" were added to the title of the day.

People took kindly and thoughtfully to the plan of prevention, but it was readily seen that just one day in a year was not enough to do away with preventable fire and accident conditions for all the year. Then a spring "clean up, paint up, and spade up" week was inaugurated with splendid results.

Even this does not go far enough, and the patriotic idea now is to make every day one to heed and remove preventable fire and accident causes.

The Auditorium theatre today and tomorrow shows a wonderful two reel, "The Locked Door." All should see it.

AVOID WASTAGE OF WINTER'S FUEL

Less May Be Checked and More Heat Obtained from the Coal.

LOOK AFTER THE HEATERS

Simple Precautions That Result in a Reduction of One Item in the High Cost of Living.

When coal is burned for heating purposes it is not possible to utilize its full heat value. A certain part is always lost or wasted in the process. Every user this winter should do his best to reduce these losses to the smallest possible proportions, thus conserving as much coal as possible.

Unless this is done the available supply of coal will not be sufficient, and some homes will have to do without it. The nation is at war, and war demands are very great. Without coal our railroads could not operate; our ships would be idle; the munitions plants could not supply the equipment of our men, and all our other sacrifices could not bring us victory.

Hence war needs must come first. After that a certain list of necessities supplying needed articles must have coal, and the public utilities must be supplied. After them the millions of homes must be provided for; then the industries less essential will get what is left. If there is enough, these establishments may continue in business; if not, their activities will cease, and many thousands will find their means of livelihood gone. If the most rigid economy of fuel is practiced, there may be enough for all, and the United States Fuel Administration is working earnestly that this may be so.

While the amount of coal used in heating a single residence is relatively small, the percentage of saving that may be made is quite large, for the total amount of coal burned in small heaters amounts to millions of tons annually, so that the whole saving, if each coal user does his bit, will be a very large factor.

Under ideal conditions, not often obtained in practice, with proper installation and careful and frequent attention, 50 to 60 per cent of the heating value of coal may be utilized, while under unfavorable conditions probably only 25 per cent is utilized.

While it is true that a part of this heat loss is unavoidable, it is equally true that the employment of such means as may be available will prevent or reduce the avoidable losses. If all domestic users in Ohio could, through care in firing and proper attention to details, increase the available heat value, say from 35 per cent of that in the coal, the saving would amount to 3,500,000 tons of coal, or perhaps $15,000,000 a year.

The principal losses in the operation of an ordinary house heater are the loss through the grate to the ash pit, the loss on account of radiation of heat to the firing room or to other parts of the building not intended to be heated, and the losses up the chimney.

The loss through the grate is the result of allowing pieces of unburned or partially burned coal to pass the ashes. This can be readily detected and by exercising care in methods of firing, may easily be kept at a minimum. It can entirely be overcome by sifting the ashes.

The loss due to the radiation of heat to the basement may arise from a number of causes, some of which are not easy to determine or correct. While it may be desirable to keep the room in which the furnace is warm somewhat, much heat is frequently radiated to the basement on account of insufficient covering on the heater or of the piping which carries the warm air, water or steam. This may be readily corrected by covering the pipes with suitable material.

Excessive radiation from the smoke pipe connecting the heater with the chimney may effect a loss. This may be the result of allowing the furnace gases to pass into the smoke pipe through an open damper, or may be due to an attempt to use a furnace of too small capacity. In either case, an overheated smoke pipe indicates not only a loss by radiation, but a much larger loss represented by the heat which passes up the chimney.

By far the greater portion of the heat of the coal which is not usually employed in heating passes up and out of the chimney. To burn a pound of coal requires from 10 to 20 pounds of air. Coal combined with air by the process of combustion forms the gases which pass up the chimney. Since draft action is essential in the operation of a furnace, a portion of the heat in the chimney gases does useful work, and may be considered as a necessary loss. The amount lost, however, is always larger than necessary.

The heat losses up the chimney consist either of unconsumed material which would have given off additional heat if it had been burned, or the excess heat actually wasted in the hot gases. These gas losses may be due to one of two causes:

First, too much air, which tends to lower the temperature in the combustion chamber and thus retard burning; or too little air, which does not permit of the mixing of air and coal in the proper proportion. An insufficient air supply is likely to occur only for a short period after a considerable amount of coal has been thrown on the fire. More frequent firing, with smaller charges, firing when the fire becomes too low by covering only a portion of the fire bed with fresh coal, and giving attention to proper regulation of dampers will help to keep down losses due to insufficient air supply.

Remember that perfect combustion does not give off smoke, and, while it is not possible to secure this always, it is the ideal toward which the householder should always work. A layer of thick fire bed with the surface of the fire well up in the heater keeps the fire in the best condition to radiate heat, and prevents the loss of coal. Stirring and excessive shuffling both cause coal to produce clinkers. Ashes should never be allowed to accumulate below the grate, for their presence may prevent the inflow of sufficient air, thus interfering with the proper combustion of the coal, and often resulting in burned out grates.

STEAM HEATERS—SPECIFIC RULES

This winter every patriotic American will study means of conserving coal. The following hints may prove helpful not only in that particular, but with a view to the greater satisfaction which a steam heating plant can be operated:

1. The water in the boiler should be completely changed at least as often as every spring and every autumn. Draw a bucketful of dirty water from the bottom at least twice a week and each time replenish with fresh water from the supply pipe. Cleanliness of water in the boiler is of prime importance.

2. Look at the glass water-gauge whenever you attend to the fire. Turn the exhaust cocks above and below the gauge occasionally to make sure that it is not clogged or the openings to it from the boiler closed up. They must be kept open.

3. The level of the top of the water must always show at some point along the gauge. Its height will vary with the temperature of the water; but if it rises above the top of the glass there is too much water in the boiler and some must be drawn off; and if it sinks below the bottom of the glass some more water must be let into the boiler.

4. Be sure that the exhaust valve of each radiator works. Sometimes these valves need cleaning with a pin or soaking in kerosene. If in doubt about one of them unscrew it from the radiator when the fire is low and there is no steam pressure, or else after turning off the radiator. If you can blow through it, it is all right. If not it must be cleaned until open. It is advisable to have an extra valve to replace any one that is temporarily out of order.

"DAYLIGHT SAVING" FACTS

One and a quarter million tons of coal have been saved during the seven months' operation of the "Daylight Saving" law, according to figures compiled by the United States Fuel Administration. When Congress enacted the law to set the clocks of the nation ahead one hour, beginning on Sunday, March 31, and ending Oct. 27, the Fuel Administration made plans to gather facts from many sources in various sections in order to determine the saving in fuel that might be effected by the operation of the law. Figures from this data have been compiled and from these is made the estimate of the coal saved.

THE KITCHEN RANGE

1. Avoid too much shaking. Live coals in the ash-pit mean wasted fuel. Clean ash-pit daily to prevent damage to grates.
2. Clean the entire stove well inside, on top of the oven and below the oven, frequently and thoroughly.
3. Stoke frequently and in small amounts.
4. Never shake a low fire until a little fresh coal has been added and given time to ignite.
5. Keep a pan or bottle of water always on the kitchen stove. Moist air makes for comfort, health, beauty and economy.

President Wilson says of the coal miner: "The only worker who deserves the condemnation of his community is the one who fails to give his best in this crisis; not the one who accepts deferred classification and works regularly and diligently to increase the coal output."

Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, coal mines are working on the quota system recently set forth by the Fuel Administration. They gained 13,000 tons in one week. This is coal enough preserved to prevent burning with 225,000 three-inch shells.

Burn wood this winter whenever possible. It saves the transportation and the coal for war purposes.

The old wood pile is helping to beat the winter when you use it to save coal.

The man who fetches not his left hand know what his right hand doeth may be ambitious.

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION HAS POWERFUL INFLUENCE OVER RHEUMATISM

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not to Take Chance of Any Other Brand Unless All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvellous success. After years of suffering he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Evans' Drug Store and Mykrantz Co. can supply you.

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has never Failed to End Most Obstinate Case of Piles in Few Days.

For years it has been proved that so-called external remedies applied to or inserted in the rectum cannot cure piles, and at the best can only give temporary relief. Surgical operations also do not remove this cause, but simply the formation.

This wonderful prescription known as Miro Pile Remedy, is so efficient in the treatment of piles, that even chronic cases of from 20 to 30 years standing with profuse bleeding have been completely cured in from three to ten days. Think of it! Just a few doses of a carefully balanced prescription and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed, never to return.

Just read what Henry J. Stone of the Lorain, Ohio, Fire Department says: "All pharmacists dispense Miro or San get it for you on short notice. Surely its worth the little trouble to obtain it to be rid of piles forever."

IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the full prescription. For sale at T. J. Evans' Pharmacy. (Adv.)

SHELLS FLYING WHILE LICKING BOY WRITES

"I just heard a shell that the Kaiser sent over and it sounded rather loud, but at that we are sending them back and pretty hot at that so they can't stand the pressure."

CORPORAL W. A. GUTRIDGE

(Heavy) to his father Home. Gutridge of R. D. 3 Glenford.

He continues: "We have been on the front for two or three weeks and believe me it is some more sight. Then the letter was evidently stopped and continued at a later date for he tells of being back with the horses which wagon which carries the ammunition up to the guns."

The Ohio War Board Says Today

Don't sell your Liberty Bonds. They will be worth more when peace comes than the market offers at the present time.

Secretary McAdoo says that "The man who sells his bonds is a quitter and is unpatriotic. Let every man buy Liberty Bonds as long as he can consistently do so, AND THEN LET EVERY MAN KEEP HIS BONDS."

Promoters of "get rich quick" enter prizes used to depend pretty largely upon teachers, ministers and women to support the schemes which they were foisting upon the inexperienced public.

It is reported that they have now thrown away these old lists of victims and substituted the names of thousands of patriotic Americans whose ownership of Liberty Bonds is their first experience in investing in good securities.

Some of these promoters approach the holder of Liberty Bonds with the plea that the government requires oil, coal and other products for the successful prosecution of the war.

The fallacy of this argument is obvious.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my housework."—Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

LABOR PROBLEMS TO CONTINUE, IS BELIEF

Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—Construction now, instead of destruction.

That's what America faces with Hohenzollernism overthrown by the victorious allies and the United States, and peace at hand.

And the problems of the period that is just ahead are as great and as exacting as those through which the country has just passed.

That was the opinion expressed today by Fred C. Croxton, head of the U. S. Employment Service for Ohio and others who have directed war work in Ohio. Croxton foresaw the continuation of at least a great part of the war machine with all that it demands, for months to come.

Let us hope that the future will be fully as great as those of the immediate past, he believed. The stabilizing effect of the federal employment service set up under the stress of war, he believed, will be as badly needed to meet conditions of peace as they were in war time.

Even when demobilization comes, these demands are going to absorb all of the soldiers as fast as they are released by the military.

Croxton indicated his belief that most of the European nations will restrict emigration because of the heavy invasions of the war have made on their manpower. Little additional labor will enter the country from Europe, he believed.

MATTHEWS SAYS HUNS PILED FIVE FEET HIGH IN FRONT OF YANKEE LINE

Lieut. Graham was made first lieutenant in France. He is the son of John S. Graham. Charles Runnels was wounded while on the firing line. He is in a French hospital.

Corp. Matthews was wounded at Chateau-Thierry, and has been returned to this country. He is now at the hospital at Lakeview, N. J.

In a letter written from Lakeview to his mother at Johnstown, Corporal Matthews says:

"I have a pass now, can go out at 2 and stay until 10:20 at night. The only treatment I get now is baking, and rubbing. I do not think it will do any good as I cannot close my hand up, nor twist my wrist. I have no grip at all. They were talking of sending me back to France, but guess they have given it up.

"Do not come here as board is hard to get, and I will get a furlough as soon as I can. I got my share of the Huns. Seven that I know of, in the battle of the Champagne. There is where we slaughtered them. There were seven divisions of Dutch and only one of us and one of French troops. They were the Blue Devils, the best French troops. The Dutch were piled up five feet in some places. We had about 5000 cannon on a four mile front. The worst of the bombardment lasted 10 hours. I did not get a scratch there. Got mine at Chateau Thierry. It was hell there—dead horses and men, so thick you could not stand the smell with a full stomach.

"Oct. 25.—This morning finds me well but I am getting discouraged as my service record has not come and I can draw no pay until it does. Have received no pay since May. I do not have the least idea when I can get home. My arm is getting so I can feed myself a little now, but once in a while I miss my mouth but do no damage. I was invited out to dinner at the Manhattan Hotel, where they are all rich people. I do not think I will go."

BIG GUN BLAST ROCKS AIRPLANE OVERHEAD

Associated Press Correspondence.

With the American Forces in France, Nov. 8.—Tossed and rocked in the air by a blast from a great American gun over which he was flying in an airplane, one American aviator recently so narrowly escaped death that he actually flew through the smoke ring from the cannon and even tasted the powder.

Even this hardly outwits in nearness to death the experience of a lieutenant of American infantry whose gas mask was shot from his face by a German gas shell without injuring him.

The aviator who barely missed death from the shell of the big American gun was Lieutenant Edgar Peake of Norfolk, Va. During the American drive in the Meuse Argonne sector he made an observation trip over the German lines.

Upon his return to the American lines, Lieutenant Peake was endeavoring to locate an American headquarters to drop a note of the activities of the enemy as he had seen them. As he neared the ground in the vicinity of what he took to be the headquarters sought, the lieutenant and his machine were suddenly lifted higher in the air by what he took to be an explosion. The machine tilted and tossed about and it was several seconds before he acquired a normal flying position, and in righting his plane he had darted through a great ring of smoke.

Looking back he discovered that he had been almost upon top of a great American gun the mission of which was to send shells far into German occupied territory.

In relating the incident to friends several days afterwards, as a matter all within the days work, the lieutenant said that he was so close to the mouth of the big gun that he tasted the powder and that it was only luck which prevented the blow of the heavy discharge from crushing his airplane, or tossing it over backward. The artillery men said afterward that they had no idea the aviator was so near at the moment when they let the big gun go.

"Marriage is a tie," quoted the Wise Guy. "Yes, and many a fellow is roped in," added the Simple Mug.

GRANVILLE

(Special to the Advocate.)

Granville, Nov. 15.—The meeting of the Council of Defense Thursday afternoon while not largely attended, owing to lack of advertising and a conflict of engagements, was interesting and profitable. One of the measures urged by the state board—in Ohio as in other states—was discussed at the meeting was the patriotic duty of early Christmas buying. This was set forth as not only desirable but as highly necessary and December 5 fixed as the latest date on which packages should be sent. Women are expected to create the wide spread sentiment for this measure which women always can create for or against any measure at any time. They are advised to (a) "Buy useful gifts"; (b) "Buy early"; (c) "Send early"; (d) "Don't burden local delivery service." "Work with the merchants. See that the assurance made on behalf of the retail trade, before the Council of National Defense on August 26 under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce, are carried out."

In the discussion which followed the reading of this letter, several ladies spoke, feelingly of the failure of merchants to comply with the requirements for early buying; of their persistent practice of saving their choicest holiday goods for Christmas week. No matter how considerate nor how patriotic the majority of Christmas buyers are, the whole plan fails, when the merchants withhold their most attractive wares for late orders.

Another matter discussed was the effort by the Women's committee to file the names of all women who have done war work. The remark is heard in every community that only a few of its women have carried the brunt of the war relief work. But a little investigation would prove that the converse is true; that only a few women have failed to do some form of war work in every community. The issuing of certificates, if generally complied with, would prove highly gratifying to the Women's committee and would acquaint many a woman of the unjust suspicion of having been a slacker.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

POSTMASTER C. C. HUGHES.

MRS. C. C. HUGHES.

Postmaster and Mrs. C. C. Hughes of Utica celebrated on Thursday, November 14, the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The day proved a gala one, and the home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers, the golden chrysanthemums predominating.

Just fifty years ago yesterday C. C. Hughes and Elvira Bell were united in marriage. On Thursday both the bride and bridegroom of half a century ago took part in all the festivities celebrating the evening, and warmly welcomed their guests. A dinner of delightful appointments was served, about one hundred and fifty guests being present. Among them was the Rev. Mr. Cook and Congressman W. A. Ashbrook.

Mr. Leman Bell, was toastmaster for the occasion and the after dinner hours were devoted to talks and music. In the evening the younger guests were entertained.

Mrs. M. P. Ashbrook, passed through Newark this morning en route from Jefferson barracks to Camp Meigs, Washington.

CARD OF THANKS.
Harry Bolin and his mother, Mrs. J. Bolin, wish to express their heartfelt gratitude to friends and neighbors, who were so helpful during their bereavement, and to acknowledge the kind attentions of Dr. Brelsford, J. M. Jones and daughter and those who sent the beautiful offerings of flowers.

THANK YOU.
The Board of Managers of the City Hospital wishes to thank the good people of Newark who responded so generously in the recent "rag campaign." The sum of $305 was turned to the president of the Hospital Board.

Public acknowledgment is also due to Mayor Atherton who was instrumental in securing the enterprise and pushing it to a successful finish.

"A new broom sweeps clean," quoted the Optimist. "But it raises blisters, just the same," growled the Pessimist.

TELLS OF WORK IN GREAT SHIPYARD

The following letter has been received from W. B. Wingerter, who is employed by the government as an inspector at the big plan of the submarine boat corporation at Newark, N. J.

"Newark, N. J., Nov. 5, 1918.
"Dear Harry—Well, here I am in Newark, N. J., at the big shipyard. I am keeping my promise and am writing to you. I am, in the first place, glad I am working for Uncle Sam.

"I am in what is called the 'efficiency department.' I inspect a certain ship for three days, then go to another for three days.

"We are building 150 ships for the United States shipping board. They are wonderful ships. I will give you some idea regarding their carrying capacity is 5500 tons, but when loaded she has a displacement of about 7800 tons. Length is 343 feet, beam 46, and speed 10 1/2 knots per hour. The vessel is an oil-burner.

"Approximately 27 steel mills, 56 fabricating plants, and 200 foundries, machine, pipe-fitting and equipment shops are engaged in the production of parts for these ships. The Mt. Vernon Bridge works shipyard, at the big shipyard.

"These vessels are built from structural steel shapes such as were used in the postoffice, only for the construction of bridges and office buildings. The various steel parts of the vessel's hull and superstructure are fabricated and completely assembled in structural steel shops throughout the country and the assembled here at the Newark Bay shipyard into a complete vessel; 18,000 men are employed here, and two ships are launched a week. Later we hope to make three per week. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Schwab, Mr. Hurley and other officials were here at the last launching.

"Give my regards to my friends and believe me,
Yours truly,
"W. B. Wingerter."

YANKS IN ENGLAND MOVE INTO BARRACKS

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Jenkins of 109 Dewey avenue from their son Norbert B. Jenkins who is now in Duxford, England. "This being Sunday I will write you a few lines to let you know I am thinking of you all.

"I was at Cambridge this week, as we had a day off. We moved into barracks last night. The tents were getting awful cold. I caught a cold the last night, but I am getting better. These barracks are fine, and will be warm this winter, for I suppose I will spend most of it here. I have been in perfect health since I have been over here; we were issued warm heavy socks and winter underwear and they keep you nice and warm.

"I am getting fatter since I came out here. I weighed myself last Thursday at the station and I was surprised. I weighed 158 pounds. I only weighed 141 pounds when I left the states.

"The war seems to be coming our way alright the paper states, but the boys are fighting some. I see a good many disabled soldiers in town that are back from the front, and they tell all about it. I will tell you about it someday, I suppose, but Germany will be whipped before I ever see you.

"I have a letter from Moffett, he is near here, he was in London a couple of weeks ago.

"They are arranging for us to fill out and send home to the ones we wish Christmas boxes. I can only get one package from the states. I will send the tag soon now, as the package must not be over 24x36 inches and not more than three pounds. It won't be much, but it will be greatly appreciated.

THIRTY SHELLS DROP

CLOSE TO LOCAL BOY

Thirty big shells which dropped close to the dugout sheltering members of

Battery D, 324th field artillery, failed to interrupt the letter which was being written by Virgil Wiley of Long Run to his brother John Wiley. The letter says:

"We have moved since I wrote you last. We only went about five hundred miles from where we were. We are still having a good time. There are three of us sleeping in the same tent tonight and I haven't much room to write. Ed Netters is feeling fine and all the rest are the same. I have a new job.

"I have a horse and water tank to drive and you know I am at home when I have a horse to work. We have 104 horses now. Some of them are good and some are not so good.

The only thing I hate against them is

I can't start them like I could our own kind."

In another letter he says: "The only trouble with this place is the Dutch and shooting on the sides of my dugout but I do not care for that. There has been about 30 big shells dropped near me. We have lots of fun sometimes with the son-of-a-guns.

"I am enjoying this morning and it is awful muddy for us to sleep but what do we care for that. We are getting along fine and dandy. Will be home some of these days and we will go hunting. I think I know how to find the game."

Wiley is with Battery D, 324 heavy field artillery.
